NEW POST OFFICE WILL PROBABLY BE OPENED IN SEPTEMBER

Carpenters Have Finished Their Work up Stairs—Cement Walks are Laid—Ken Groat Suddenly Takes a Notion to go to Work

The work on the new post office has once more got started and foreman Jas. Blaney expects to have the new building ready for opening some time in September.

The carpenters have finished the interior finishing in the living apartments upstairs and are now at work on the lower floor.

The cement walk around all sides of the building is down and being used. The new cement sides to the steps leading up to the post box are done.

The fittings for the boxes and windows are now being advertised for and will be put in as soon as the tile floors are laid in the main lobby.

Since the new drain has been in use the cellar is as dry as a bone so that water trouble for years to come is over.

The one big surprise of the whole work on this building happened on Monday morning, when Inspector Ken Groat showed up on the job in a pair of new overalls and announced that he was going to do some work. Jim Blaney nearly had a fit when he saw the queer antics of Ken, but no Ken persisted in doing manual labor. Jim let him go. Ken was taking some mail out of some old lumber and wheeling the lumber home for firewood.

CHANGE OF TIME

A change has been made in the time of the east bound morning train on the G.T.R. The time has been changed from 2.24 to 2.54.

AN OLD NEWSPAPER

No one can be found to-day who can recall events of one hundred and thirteen years ago, but George Goldberg, of the Commercial Hotel, Hamilton, has in his possession a copy of the Ulster County Gazette of January, 1802, which contains facts of much interest. The newspaper was published at Kingston, Ulster county and so much does Mr. Goldberg cherish it that he keeps it in a frame and he has also refused $500 for it, the offer having been made by representatives of Andrew Carnegie. He also refused to give a Canadian company permission to reproduce it, although the company offered him $15 per column. It is a four-page paper and contains the speech to the Senate of President John Adams, particulars of the funeral of George Washington and other interesting matters. The paper is volume 11, number 23, and it is claimed that only four other issues of it are in existence.

One thing noted from its reading matter is the great change which has taken place in the past one hundred and thirteen years in news transmission. During the time the paper was published it took months to secure details of the world's events, as is shown in articles concerning events of the one hundred years' war. It also took a long time to receive particulars of events occurring in the United States. To-day the events of the world are flashed throughout the world in the twinkling of an eye because of the wireless, cable, telephone and telegraphic services.

The paper was printed from wood type. It carried quite a quantity of advertising considering its size.

In looking over the advertising matter the Herald reporter, who was kindly allowed to scrutinize the paper found an adv. where one of the residents notified the public that his wife had deserted him for another and he would not pay her debts.

Another adv. offered for sale a portion of a new mill and "a good, healthy negro wench."

The paper had the following to say of George Washington's funeral: "On Wednesday last the mortal part of George Washington, the great father of his country and the friend of man—was consigned to the tomb, with solemn honors and funeral pomp."

"On the monument at the head of the coffin, was inscribed: 'Burge and Judson,' and on the silver plate 'General George Washington, departed this life on the 14th December, 1799, aged 68.'

The concluding part of the description of the funeral follows: "The sun was now setting. Alas! the sun of glory was set forever, no—the name of Washington—the American President and general—will triumph over death. The unclouded brightness of his glory will illuminate the future ages."

An idea of the time it then took to transmit news is shown in an article which was sent from Zurich on September 29, 1799, and did not reach London till October 19 and it then took till January next to reach the United States. The article contained a graphic account of the battle of Zurich, which was a Russian victory. It was also gleaned from the adv. that goods were sold for either cash or country produce and other materials and also that waxes were sometimes taken in exchange.

THE CARE OF ROSES

Hardy outdoor roses require considerable attention for the best results. Good flowers are difficult to obtain from old wood, and severe spring pruning should be practiced. The old bushes should be cut back to within six or eight inches of the ground so as to encourage strong vigorous growing shoots. The number of shoots left of the old wood should be from three to four and from each of these shoots will grow which in turn will bear the blossoms. If no pruning is done, the old wood will send out short side shoots which will bear small and poorly developed blossoms with short stems and of poor lasting quality. The plants cannot be kept in vigorous growth and produce good blossoms are borne on the current year's growth.

The soil in the bed should be given attention. It should be worked up every spring and heavily fertilized with well rotted cow manure. This should be worked into the soil and during the first part of the ground should be frequently stirred. With the advent of the weather, the rose bed should be heavily mulched with old leaves or with clippings from the lawn. Roses do best when the soil is kept cool as possible. A clay loam soil is preferable to a sandy one, but under all conditions soil drainage is required.

In order to obtain the best blossoms it is desirable to reduce the number of buds to one or two on each shoot, for if too many are permitted to grow and develop they are apt to become deformed, as the plant cannot supply sufficient nourishment for all the buds formed. The grower should aim to produce not a large number of flowers but flowers of superior merit.

Roses in cold climate require winter protection and this can be provided for by tying some straw around the base of the bushes and a gunny sack outside of the straw to hold it in place though if they are trimmed back considerably a covering of leaves or rubbish held down with sticks or pieces of board will serve the purpose. If not covered, the bushes are apt to kill back close to the ground, thus leaving no old wood from which new growth can start and a seasons crop of flowers is apt to be lost; besides the rose bushes are considerably weakened by the cold. The growing of roses is not necessarily a profession at work, for they are easy to grow and with a little attention no family need be without them.

THE TIGHT SKIRT CRIMINAL
 You've a very narrow skirt.
 Little Girl.
 Are you sure it doesn't hurt.
 Little Girl?
 That's a mischievous little stride
 Where the street is wild and wild
 Are you sure there's room inside
 Little Girl?
 What will happen if you slip.
 Little Girl?
 Aren't you fearful it will rip.
 Little Girl?
 You had better take a sack.
 So if anything should crack.
 It would serve you coming back.

Little Girl.
your mamma know your cod?
Little Girl?
be afraid to go about,
Little Girl?
meet you in the sun,
your skirt so thin'y again,
we might all have to run,
Little Girl?
the bottom out a bit.
Little Girl?
much too tight to fit,
Little Girl?
no matter how they stand,
he be walking on your hands,
in that event—my lands,
Little Girl?

MY NEXT SALE

With the whole country kicking about hard times and The Canadian West in the dumps, the bulk of our clothing manufacturers are loaded to death and that's how I happen to get hold of 1634 suits at such ridiculous prices. Just imagine a good all-wool suit of clothes made to retail at from $10 to $18.50 for $7.75; and another lot at $9.75, $14.75 and $19.75.

Just take a look at my window, you don't even have to come in and see what we've got. Tobey, 50 & 52 James St. North Hamilton.

Then you will have a clean and healthy scalp. No more hair loss. No more rough, scraggly hair. Does not color.

Concrete Roads Exceed Farmer's Expectations

THIS LETTER FROM MR. GEO. W. BURT, of Redford, Wayne County, Michigan, shows how well satisfied the farmers of that section are with concrete roads. Nearly one hundred miles have been built in Wayne County.

"Mr. Edward N. Hines, Board of County Road Commissioners,
Wayne County, Detroit, Mich.

Dear Sir:—

Our concrete roads are far ahead of the expectations of the majority of us farmers. Where we used to be two days marketing fifty bushels of produce, we now market twice as much in one day, and can go to the city anytime we want to. We do not have to wait till the roads are good so we can go. Also, our horses and waggon will last twice as long.

Hoping you will keep right on building these roads, and that the county will stand back of this movement, I remain,
Yours truly,
(Sd) Geo. W. Bush

Concrete Roads

are the best, cheapest and most satisfactory roads that can be built. Most, because they permit bigger loads, increase land values and improve conditions generally. Cheapest, because they are permanent and require practically no repairs, which permits road taxes to be spent in building more good roads. Most satisfactory, because they are open to traffic every day in the year, lower cost of marketing and cost of living and increase the farmer's profits.

Good Roads literature telling all about concrete roads will be sent, free, on request. Write to
